ASSESSMENT PRACTICES SURVEY REPORT RELEASED FOR PLUMAS COUNTY

The State Board of Equalization (BOE) today released an assessment practices survey report on Plumas County. As the agency responsible for promoting statewide uniformity and consistency in property tax assessment, the BOE reviews each county's property assessment practices and procedures once every five years.

The report provides an overview of how well the assessor's duties are performed and identifies where improvements should be made. Every assessor is required to identify and assess all properties located within the county - unless specifically exempt - and maintain a database or "roll" of the properties and their assessed values. If the assessor's roll meets state requirements, the county is allowed to recapture some administrative costs.

The BOE's report focused on the quality of the 2004-2005 Plumas County assessment roll, which contained about 28,000 assessments totaling $2.54 billion in value. The report found that the overall quality of the Plumas County assessment roll met state standards.

The report contains several recommendations for the assessor, which include notifying taxpayers when a previously missed assessment is enrolled, recognizing properties declining in value, including all statutorily-required information on supplemental assessment notices, assessing all private interest in government-owned properties, and timely completing audits of business property accounts that are mandatory every four years.

The five-member Board of Equalization is a publicly elected tax board. The Board collects more than $50 billion annually in taxes and fees supporting state and local government services. It hears business tax appeals, acts as the appellate body for franchise and personal income tax appeals, and plays a significant role in the assessment and administration of property taxes.
